

HIGHLIGHTS OF CURRENT EVENTS

By Bill Dennis

One of the most objective pieces of news reporting that I have ever seen occurred several weeks ago when our local newspapers reported the activities of Glendale Post 127, American Legion.

The story as reported was a simple one. It covered the time, the place, the event and the number of people involved, which are essentials of good journalism. No personal or editorial bias was included in the reporting.

GIVEN SMALL PLAY

This story was handled with so little sensationalism that when it first broke it rated less than a five inch column on page six of the San Francisco News. The News' follow-up stories were handled in practically the same manner.

It was important enough, in my opinion, to be published on the front page of every newspaper in the country, including the Golden Gator. Here it is:

"On November 14, 1947, 20 men wearing caps bearing the insignia of Glendale Post 127, American Legion, invaded the home of Hugh Hardyman in Glendale. Mr. Hardyman was conducting a meeting of the La Crescenta Democratic Club, an official local branch of the Democratic Party. The invaders peremptorily gave the assemblage 10 minutes to disband."

Further investigation brings to light the following facts: Thirteen of the members of the invading group were actually Legionnaires, including Glendale Post's commander, Orville Collins. The remaining seven were members of the editorial staff of the Glendale News Press, including its publisher, B. C. Burkheimer.

CRIMINAL OFFENSE

To date, the group has been charged with the following: Disturbing the peace, disturbing an assembly, and hindering elections from assembling and meeting. One report states that six months in jail, a fine of $500 or both is the usual penalty for such charges.

Upon reading the charges, several others occurred to me. Although founded on no legal precedent, to date, charges of un-Americanism, subversive activity, contempt of civil rights, and contempt for democracy might also be added to those charges levied against this so-called American Legion Post.

SAD REMINDER

Somehow, the antics of these self-righteous "professional Americans" is reminiscent of the indiscriminate raids upon innocent political groups during the 1930's. During this time of economic depression the Legion and other groups of a similar nature showed little faith in our American system of democratic government that many able writers have gone so far as to place the Legion of those days in the same category as the Ku Klux Klan.

There are undoubtedly some fine Americans in the American Legion. There are probably some equally fine Americans in Glendale Post 127. The latter, however, should exercise more caution when they lend people their caps.

Franciscan Rally Hypo's 'Last Ditch' Campaign!

CHRISTMAS

Spirited Holiday Festival Will Pep Up the Campus

Festivities keynoting the Christmas theme are scheduled for all next week, according to Edward E. Cassidy, chairman of the Christmas Festival Committee. The affair is sponsored jointly by the Division of Humanities, Division of Creative Arts and the student body.

The week's festivities will end next Friday noon in a Yule Log ceremony on upper field. Students and faculty are to bring gifts of food, clothing and soap for Europe. Officials of American Friends Society have accepted the responsibility of seeing that college contributions reach their destination. Mary A. Ward, dean of women, will officiate.

The Festival will begin Monday noon with a program of appropri-

Staters Push Yule Campaign For Food

A March of Food drive, climaxed by a grand finale at the yule log ceremony Friday, will be carried on all next week. The campaign is being sponsored by Sigma Pi Sigma, service fraternity.

Students are urged by President Don Oakes to bring two cans of food each to help reach the goal of 7000 cans. During the week both food and clothing for people of Europe will be accepted in College Hall.

Assisting in the drive are Phi Lambda Chi, Student Agatheans, Student Christian Association and Alpha Phi Gamma.

Press Quotes Leonard Talk

President J. Paul Leonard recently received national comment as a result of his speech given to the National Council of Teachers of English convention held during the Thanksgiving vacation.

Paul Gallico, Hearst newspaper columnist, devoting a column on Dr. Leonard's remarks and Time Magazine quoted the speech in the December 8 issue.

Time quoted Dr. Leonard as saying that "Too much time is spent on rules the pupil forgets, and writing compositions on subjects in which he has no interest nor any information."

Local Composers Plan Concert

Student and faculty compositions will be previewed at the semi-annual Composers' Workshop concert planned for 8 p.m. Monday in Frederic Burk Auditorium, Director Wendell Otey announced this week.

Piano and vocal solos, as well as brass and string quartets, quintets with the flute and the clarinet, plus other ensembles, are planned. Selections by faculty members William Ward and Otey also will be heard.

Want a Job?

Well, you had better look in the non-professional areas. At least, that's the conclusion of Managing Editor Eina Eichner in her story on Vocational Orientation, the second of a series of articles on the Student Needs Test. Read it now on Page 2.

Anniversary Homecoming

College alumni association will hold its first birthday party since reorganizing, January 17, in the cafeteria.

The luncheon will be the homecoming gathering of the alumni, and all members are invited.

Warner Bros. Scout Will See Kampus Kapers Talent

Amidst a background of dramatic skits, specialty acts, original music and songs, a Kampus Kapers Queen will be selected January 15 at Mission High School Auditorium. A talent scout and two actresses from Warner Brothers film studio will do the judging.

After the crowning of the queen, she, along with her six attendants, will reign over a two-hour program of song, music and entertainment. Immediately following the show, the winner will be featured over a local radio station.

Kampus Kapers, the college variety show, is scheduled for January 15 and 16. According to Ray Fournival, publicity director of the varieties, efforts are being made to have the queen featured on the "Queen For a Day" radio show.

Kampus Kapers is produced by J. Fenton McKenna, associate professor of speech and drama. Ed Avril, president of the Music Federation, is supervising the music arrangements with the drama parts being cast by Art Herberg, Virginia Cox and Ray Fournival, all members of the college theatre troupe.

Campus organizations interested in sponsoring a candidate for queen should submit a picture and name of candidate to Hedberg.

Schedule For Week's Festivities

Monday: Musical recordings to be piped throughout the campus during the noon hour.

Tuesday: Christmas Carnival for everyone on the upper field from 12 to 2 p.m. The college symphony will give a concert at 8:15 p.m. in the Baptist Church.

Wednesday: Dramatic students will offer the production, "A Star Still Shines," in the Frederic Burk Auditorium at noon.

Thursday: The annual Christmas Dinner with entertainment will be held in the Cafeteria from 12 to 2 p.m.

Friday: Drive for food for the starving people in Europe will be culminated by a Yule Log ceremony on the upper field at noon.

Queen Aspirants For Junior Prom Compete Today

Run-off election for the Queen of the Junior Prom will be held today in the Student Lounge, Hut 5, from 9 to 4. Student body card holders are eligible to vote.

CLUBS PICK CANDIDATES

All members of organizations are urged by Tom Murphy, junior class president, to vote for the candidate sponsored by their group.

Final election will be held January 9 at the prom in the Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel. Each bid will count as one vote. The winner will be crowned Queen, and the other finalists will be Princesses.

TO REPRESENT STATE

The Queen also will be State's representative at the California State College Convention at San Jose State.

Board to Revise ASB Constitution

Another revision of the student body constitution was set into motion at a meeting of the Board of Directors last Tuesday.

June Dolan submitted a preliminary constitution for comments and was appointed to head a committee which will make further revisions.

"The new constitution will call for the election of eight members during the spring semester, and seven members and one non-voting member in the fall semester," stated Miss Dolan.

President Vin O'Leary said, "When the constitution has been revised, it will be submitted to the students for final approval. It will require a two-thirds majority to pass."

Art Class Exhibit Draws Attention

The exhibit of student art in the Activities Room completed its third week today.

The show consisted of a cross-section of student art during the last term. Most of the work followed a modernistic trend.

Aside from paintings and drawings, there were also examples of work from the craft classes.

Seymour Lockes, instructor in art and director of the show, said similar exhibits are being planned for the future.

San Francisco J. C. Now 'City College'

State's cross-town rival, San Francisco Junior College, will change its name to City College of San Francisco, beginning with the spring term, February 12, 1948.

However, it will continue to serve as a "junior" college. Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of schools, approved the change, "providing it does not become an entering wedge to saddle the city with a four-year public college when we already have State facilities available."

FUNDS TIED UP

Red Tape Delays VA Payment Again

Condition of the corporation treasury remains critical this week because of delayed funds. A change of policy in payment of veterans' music fees has caused additional delay in payment of the Associated Students by the Veterans' Administration, it was learned Tuesday from Comptroller Leo C. Nee.

New basis of payment for veteran students' music lessons, which is based upon the units of credit in each particular course, needed special approval by the California Board of Education before it could be included in the VA contract. Necessary approval was obtained last Friday in Sacramento.

WAITING APPROVAL

This new payment method is being included in the original contract for this semester by the local VA office. It then must be submitted again to the Board of Education for final approval, according to Nee.

"Our office supplied data on the cost of teaching personnel last month, which we hoped would eliminate further delay in payment," Nee said. "This problem concerning the change in payment for music fees came up last week, and needed clarification before the VA could complete drawing up our contract."

After final approval by the Board of Education the contract, which we are sending to Sacramento immediately, payment to the student corporation by the VA should come through in approximately a week."

FINANCIAL CRISIS

Until actual payment of the money by the VA, the situation in the corporation treasury will remain critical, with barely adequate funds to last until January, according to Treasurer John Shepherd.

"The problem in the student corporation Bookstore still presents the greatest worry. Many outstanding bills have accumulated, with no money available for payment. With the spring semester coming up, payment of these bills is necessary, so we can begin stocking up for next term," said Shepherd.

The possibility of the corporation seeking a bank loan on the strength of eventual VA payment has been suggested by Charles Roumasset, administrator of student affairs.

The Board of Directors at its regular meeting a week ago voted to loan the Bookstore $2000 to tide it over until VA funds are received.

Gilbert Dean Wins Inklings Contest

Gilbert Dean was revealed as the winner of Inklings' $5 short story award when the magazine went on sale in College Hall yesterday. Dean's story, "Andy," concerns a ship-board friendship which comes to an ironic conclusion. It was drawn from the writer's personal experience and was chosen for the award largely because of its wide reader appeal.

The college magazine still on sale today, may be obtained at the booth in front of the Co-op for 15 cents with student body card and 20 cents without, for as long as the supply holds out. Four hundred and seventy-five copies have been published.

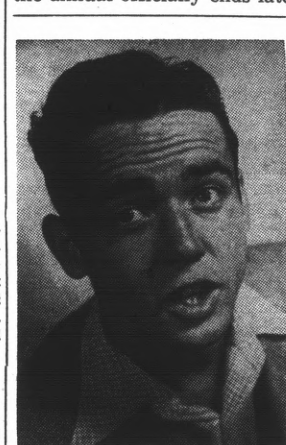

Stage Door Theatre Honors Student Cards

State student body cards are being honored at the Stage Door Theatre during the run of Henry V.

Sam Nathanson, road show manager, said that students presenting cards will be admitted to all matinee performances at a reduced rate of 60 cents.

Yearbook Pledges Pour In As Drive Deadline Nears

A spirited campaign to push the 1948 Franciscan into the "black" with 1200 pledged purchasers received a new boost yesterday with a yearbook rally attracting an enthusiastic audience of more than 500 students. The drive to line up funds for the annual officially ends late this afternoon. The 1200 goal has not yet been met. However, pledges are pouring in to the student body office by the hundreds.

Zylker to Try Out On American Olympic Squad

Dick Zylker, star center-half on the State soccer team, has been selected for a tryout with the American Olympic squad.

Zylker is one of six players chosen by Bay Area soccer coaches from teams of the California Intercollegiate soccer loop.

He has been a leading scorer for the Gator team all season. He paced the State shinbusters to their victory over a powerful UCLA team two weeks ago, making three points during the encounter.

The Olympic tryouts are to be held in St. Louis, Mo., some time after the first of the year. Teams will be formed, and the outstanding players chosen for the Olympic team.

Zylker is a high freshman transfer from U. C. He served with the Army in the Pacific theatre.

Coach Jerome Kenney of the Gators considers Zylker one of the brightest prospects in Northern California soccer circles.

Three Win Physical Therapy Scholarships

Al Vladimiroff, Curt Buttlers and Marge Ellis recently were awarded physical therapy scholarships to Stanford University.

The trio will begin training at Stanford in the winter quarter January 5. They will then go to Stanford Lane Hospital, where they will train for another quarter.

Scholarship applications, submitted to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, were judged by the interest and ability shown by the entrant.

Ramblers Trounce Gators

The North Beach Ramblers, paced by Drolette's 19 points, upset the State Jayvees last night, 51-48. Edstrom was high for the losers with 11 points.

Groups Discuss World Affairs

College Representatives Will Attend Conference

Representatives from State attending the World Affairs conference on United States foreign policy this weekend will be President and Mrs. J. Paul Leonard and Mrs. Olive Cowell, international relations advisor.

"This conference is an effort of the World Affairs Council of Northern California to promote adult education along the lines of foreign affairs. It has been opened to all interested, and a cross-section of the public is expected to attend. Dr. Leonard is a member of the board of directors of the Council.

The conference is to be held at Asilomar, near Monterey, scene of the faculty conference last year and this year to discuss reorganization of the curriculum. Meetings will be held tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

"I think we're going to make it," President Vin O'Leary said yesterday after the rally. "Most of the students just now are beginning to realize what it will mean if this campaign doesn't go over. It means no Franciscan—for the first time in the history of the college. I believe they'll come through."

The week-long drive to line up Franciscan buyers included a noisy noon-time impromptu rally Monday and a formal rally in the gym yesterday. In addition, Franciscan staff members and volunteer club members solicited pledges around the campus.

BIG RALLY

Highlight of the campaign was the rally yesterday, featuring the Vern Alley Trio, and the Hungry Five. Vin O'Leary was master of ceremonies.

The Monday rally was handled by Terry Kilpatrick and Don Westover, business manager of the Franciscan.

Over-all campaign was administered by Editor Pat Merrill.

Members of the Franciscan staff who worked on the drive included: Etta Bucholtz, Jerry Hill, Lois Saunders, Dorothy Williams, Carolyn Trusty, Luisa Hepper and Barbara Roberts.

Temporary Huts Go Up at Merced

The new campus land issue remains undecided this week, but temporary construction at Lake Merced, in the form of five huts, is nearing completion. According to President J. Paul Leonard, these supplementary classrooms will be available next summer.

Two have been joined to provide combination classrooms and laboratory facilities. One will be used for chemistry courses and another for radio and physics classes. The fifth will be implemented as a greenhouse and botany laboratory.

Eight additional huts have been given the college by the Federal Government. The State of California will provide sidewalks, floors and plumbing for the units which will undergo construction at Federal expense next spring.

Transportation to and from the new campus classrooms will be provided via a 60 passenger diesel bus recently acquired by the college.

Dr. Treutlein Outlines UNESCO Objectives

A student-faculty council on United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organizations is being formed at State, according to Theodore E. Treutlein, associate professor of history.

Dr. Treutlein spoke on the aims and purposes of UNESCO at a meeting of the International Relations Club last Tuesday.

Bernard S. Drzewieski, director of the UNESCO organization, will speak in Frederic Burk Auditorium next Friday.

Dr. Drzewieski served as a cultural attaché of the Polish Embassy in London during the war and has been active in the United Nations Reconstruction and Rehabilitation section.

His appearance at the college is sponsored by the UNESCO group at State.

ELIMINATE THE NEGATIVE

Last week the Golden Gater was guilty (in a journalistic sense) of a misdemeanor. To quote from that edition, column 5, page 1, "The Board of Directors voted a proposal . . . for reorganization (of the Athletic Council) to allow for student representation. Heretofore, students have not been represented on this council and have had no voice in its affairs."

The error in reporting was that "student representation" and "no voice in (council) affairs" were not qualified.

There were some students on the council (the Associated Students and members of Block S); the students technically did have some voice in council affairs.

But proportionately, active student representatives were outnumbered, and actually no one had a voice in council affairs. The council was defunct; it didn't have any affairs!

The reorganization plan approved by the Board of Directors last week is a sound one in that it aims at making the Athletic Council a less cumbersome, a more proportionately representative and a more effective authority.

The Golden Gater called for either an effective council or no council at all. Reaction could have been positive or negative. It has been positive. An effective, efficient Athletic Council is on the horizon.

Outmoded Education Axed

A full impact of the Asilomar conferences and student needs tests will not be felt at State till next Fall. Yet San Francisco State College is fast gaining a reputation as an institution which has taken initial steps in removing, from its curriculum, the moss of victorian methods of education.

What happens here next year and during ensuing semesters will be observed and discussed by educators everywhere in the United States. State students will be led on a new path of social and vocational preparation, totally bereft of the boot-strap fallacy.

With well-planned curricular revamping the administration and faculty of San Francisco State will have fired the first shot in the battle of realistic education versus ivory-tower pedantry. They deserve our vote of thanks for courageously taking a stand and attempting to help us adjust more easily and completely to the 20th century world in which we live. —E. E.

High Salary and Swivel Chair Good--But

By EINA EICHNER

So you think, when you've left State, you're going to carve a niche in the world and will be sitting pretty. You plan a place in the country, two cars and a maid to run the Bendix home laundry. Nothing can stop you! Don't look now, but that bubble is about to burst.

By this time next year, as a result of the Asilomar report on the student needs tests, State students will know where they stand and where they are going vocationally. Job ambitions will be examined and compared with aptitudes and opportunities. Anyone who wishes will be directed to the most suitable vocational course.

EARNING PROSPECTS

Out of 200 students tested last summer, 61 per cent said they came to State to improve their earning power. At the peak of their productive years, veteran and non-veteran males expect to earn $1,290. Women hope to pull down $974. In the Asilomar report, these estimates are summarized as "probably unrealistic, particularly for men."

According to John H. Cornelsen, Jr., committee chairman on vocational orientation, a direct relationship exists between incomes of fathers and sons. In view of that relationship, it is unlikely that students' future earnings will be as great as estimated, he said. (In the last article on Home and Family Living, average income for fathers of State students was reported as $3,557.)

QUEST FOR EXEC. JOBS

Occupations in which the majority of students hope to earn these "unrealistic" salaries are on the professional level. Non-veteran male freshmen are aiming at "managerial, big business types of careers." These goals have been held by a great percentage of all groups for four years or more, in spite of the fact that the last census stipulated "only 10 per cent of the population in the United States belong to the professional and managerial classes combined."

The reason given by 69 per cent of all groups for choosing careers was "interest." Yet factors, such as "previous experience" and "knowledge of the field" were each cited by only 12 per cent.

"The heavy reliance of our students upon interest alone, and their rather unsophisticated, subjective evaluation of interest, is certainly a dangerous procedure to follow in making an occupational choice," the report commented.

Another facet of student thinking is that Staters do not take seriously the bromide, "It's not what you know, but whom you know." Under "family" or "business connections for beginning a career," 83 per cent of all groups stated they have none. Five per cent reported having one or more contacts in their chosen fields.

This is the picture of State students and their vocational ambitions. The majority want well-paying jobs with accompanying prestige, yet know little or nothing of their chosen careers or their chosen careers or their chance for success.

JOB LISTING IN FALL

Next fall the committee on vocational orientation will present a variety of occupations.

Information will be given on technological trends, effects of occupations on patterns of living and relationship of college education to occupational and professional families.

Card Punchers Punchy

News hungry Staters have offered 1946 student body cards, library cards, snapshots and even out-dated draft cards for a copy of the Golden Gater. The circulation manager is keeping a sharp lookout for right cards.

Ye Olde Grads

Barbara Krase, national women's tennis champion and State alumna, will marry Bill Chandler of San Francisco Sunday. Miss Krase was a physical education major and a member of Alpha Omega while attending State. She will carry the traditional Alpha Omega Bible during the marriage ceremony.

Mary Margaret Scobey '37 served as a WAVE officer from 1943 to 1946. Upon discharge, she earned her M. A. in '47 at Columbia University. Miss Scobey is now rural supervisor in Merced County under Agnes Buttler, superintendent of schools and another State alumna.

Louise Nalbandian, working for a higher degree at Stanford University, has prepared an exhibit of rare Armenian literature for the Near East History Seminar at Stanford Library. The collection of scarce manuscripts was on display through December 6.

Why not a greater recognition of the professional status of the students? Fourteen hundred men are in attendance at State; 42 per cent of all students are interested in teaching, according to figures quoted by Dr. Leonard. This is enough of a nucleus to start chapters of the two professional honoraries, Phi Delta Kappa, for men; and Pi Lambda Theta, for women.

Chapters of these honoraries are in Stanford, Cal., U.S.C., Columbia, and other major institutions. State deserves a chance to get the chapter which the Bay Region can stand. Prominent alumni are ready to help whenever needed. Does the college want such an organization?

Don Pagani '47, former Golden Gater editor and director of publications, is teaching fifth and sixth grades at Jefferson Elementary School, Daly City. Bernard Malvarino '43 came up fast. He is principal of South San Francisco Junior High. Harold Edwards '47 is at Woodrow Wilson Elementary School in Daly City, teaching sixth grade.

Norma Hughes, who sang her way through many of San Francisco's night clubs, returned to her home town with the successful New York musical, "Call Me Mister." She had the romantic lead opposite John Meigs.

'Hot' Cage Game Results In Single Tide Casualty

By ED LEVITT

One casualty resulted during the heated cage affair last Friday night which found State victorious over Y.M.I., 57-51.

During one of the torrid moments of the game when the boys were "roughing it up" and the tilt was taking on the semblance of a "grudge battle," an injury occurred—and the name of the victim wasn't even listed in the starting lineup.

The extent of the ailment—a pulled muscle.
The victim—Coach Dan Farmer!

Hank Luisetti's Borlo A. C. basketballers, last year's Pacific Athletic Association champions, will have two ex-Gators on their squad when it faces State Tuesday night at Kezar Pavilion.

The former Buchanan Street cagers are Mel Martin and Bill Cummings. Their presence may or may not have any influence on the final outcome of the game, but one thing is certain: The Borlo A. C. quintet will go into the encounter odds-on favorites to win.

And the way the favorites have been "jinxed" of late—it might be just what the doctor ordered for the Farmer boys!

The Golden Gater All-Star Intramural selections of last week brought forth a loud cry from one corner of the campus. It seems as though two stellar touch football performers were omitted from the first team.

George Drolette, Old Men's Athletic Club, and Walt Kolling, Newman's, were singled out as having deserved "more prominent" notice.

Gators Bound For Stockton

State Rasslers Tie
With San Jose Men
In YMCA Matches

State battled through to a deadlock with the San Jose Spartans in the YMCA Novice Wrestling Tournament at S. F. "Y" last Saturday.

Both the Gators and the Spartans piled up three wins and a third place. Cliff Gray (heavyweight), John Holden (147), Jerry Friedman (136) and Don Burbank (125) each annexed championships.

Other S. F. wrestlers competing were: Bob Anderson, Efran Mena, Ken Tye, Bud Call, Irving Palasky, Jack Root and Jack Segurson.

There still are openings in all weight divisions.

Pugilists Run For Cover

"State's boxing team may have to be converted into a swimming squad, if the prevailing conditions are not remedied soon," according to David Cox, director of Physical Education and Recreation.

The fisticuffs' training quarters, which are adjacent to the men's training quarters, are subject to periodic floods, Mr. Cox said.

Due to the alluvial condition of the ring on rainy days the State maulers have had to cancel many of their practice sessions.

NO BLOOD SPILLED, BUT...

Victory Over YMI Replete
With Spills, Foul Shots

STATE GYM, Dec. 5.—For a few moments it looked as if blood would flow tonight as State came from behind to defeat the not-so-Young Men's Institute, 57-51, in a knock-down, drag-out battle.

The sharp-shooting YMI quintet, paced by long-shot artist, Sig Jacobson, led throughout the first half. Their 24-21 halftime lead faded suddenly, however, when they fell apart early in the second frame under the pressure of the Gators' relentless fast-break.

The game, replete with men crashing to the floor and vicious fights for the ball, was characterized by a host of fouls mainly on the part of YMI. The climax to the doling out of fouls shots came when a technical foul was tagged on a feminine guest on the YMI bench, who tried to tell off the referees a la Ebbett's Field Bleachers. Jack Byrne obliged by sinking the resulting free throw.

Dick Jaensch led the S. F. scoring in the first half, and then John Burton took over in the final stanza. Both forwards notched 20 points, as did the Institute's Jacobson.

Bob Reeves started at guard and Ed Rathjen moved to center as Bill Callas, suffering from a chest cold, was used sparingly.

Two days before the YMI scramble, Coach Dan Farmer, in a sudden burst of over-confidence, started three reserves—only to find the Tide was up against an experienced club in the J. Kronrod Jewellers, but State squeezed through, 54-53.

After the Jewelers took a quick 14-7 lead, Coach Farmer saw the error of his ways and sent Burton and Jaensch to the rescue. The Gators caught Kronrod at the half, 22-20. S. F. stayed out in front throughout the rest of the encounter.

Face Tiger Five Tonight,
Borlo Tuesday at Kezar

By GERRY HILL

Teamwork! In a word that's what the Gators will throw (among other things) at the College of the Pacific Tigers tonight at 8 in the Stockton den and against the Borlo Athletic Club next Tuesday in Kezar Pavilion. Working like a well-oiled machine, Coach Dan Farmer's cagers are well on the way to one of their greatest seasons. The Golden Tide quintet has apparently licked that "Glory-Hound" bugaboo that raised havoc with their efforts last year.

The Gators have made a voluntary rule not to look at the score book after each game to see "How many points did I score tonight?" This year it's: "How many games have WE won so far?"

CINDERDUST
Tracksters Return
For Early Practice

By RAOUL SOSA

State's track squad, defending Far Western Conference track champions, will get off to a "running start" this season.

Coach Ray Kaufman announced this week that practice will begin immediately.

"This year's squad should be stronger," the mentor predicted. With Hal Fox, last season's leading point-getter, heading a host of returning veterans, Mr. Kaufman has reason to be optimistic.

Turning in a time of 9.5 in the century last season, only 1/10 of a second off the world's record, Fox recorded one of the best collegiate efforts in America. In the 220-yard dash the speedster has been clocked at 21.3.

Behind Fox in the sprints will be footballer Earl Boles, who is expected to star, while in the quarter mile John Maher and Carter Toler return for duty.

HOLDEN RETURNS

Undefeated in competition last season, John Holden returns to the two-mile churn. Other outstanding distant runners include Jack Byrne, Don Oakes, Hank Watty, Bob Anderson and newcomer Bill Brennan.

In the high-jump event there are Clyde Hernton and George Kapril ready to soar over the bar. Bob Keropian, widely-heralded newcomer, will lend his talents in the broad jump.

Footballer Bill Miller and Art Arfsten, newcomer from San Francisco Junior College, will man the weight events. Miller is expected to heave the steel ball beyond 48 feet and Arfsten to better his mark of 140 feet in the discus. Veteran tracksters Jack Root and Don Forbes will further strengthen the weight events.

Boles will also participate in the javelin event. Ira Call, returning veteran, will perform in the pole vault.

SHEPHERD LOST

One of the finest low and high hurdlers to perform for the Gators, John Shepherd, was lost through graduation, as was Charlie Parish, outstanding hurdler and sprinter. Sprinters John Comach and Gene Minor have also departed.

The coach of the thin-clads also moaned the loss of Sandy Sandford, last year's high and broad jump champion.

To offset these losses, however, Mentor Kaufman has a long list of promising newcomers, among whom are Jerry Friedman, distance runner, and shot-put Herman Seversky.

FAST ACTION PROMISED

The C.O.P. Tigers will feel the full weight of this new mental outlook when State invades the river town tonight. This one should be nip-and-tuck from start to finish.

On Tuesday the Gators return to the hardwood in the next lap of their hot-and-heavy schedule when they tussle with the Borlos, coached by THE Hank Luisetti, Stanford's contribution to basketball immortality. Again, the Golden Tide will have to make use of every bit of team spirit to win.

This will be State's first game of the season at Kezar.

BURTON TO START

As usual, "Jumping John" Burton and "Deadeye Dick" Jaensch will start at the fast-breaking forward spots. At center is towering Bill Callas. Guards Ed Rathjen and Jack Byrne round out the starting five.

Although Burton and Jaensch are usually competing for high-point honors, Callas, Rathjen and Byrne are indispensable cogs in the Gator scoring machine.

Dick Franks, coming along fast at forward, Jimmy Wong, Bob Reeves, Hal Fox, Lou Lucchesi and Gus Skoufas will probably see action against C.O.P. and Borlo.

51-38 SCORE

Jayvees Dump
Wilmerding

Dropping in some 18 points in five minutes, the State Jayvees caught fire late in the second half as they smothered a strong Lick-Wilmerding High squad, 51-38, in the State gym last Friday.

The Baby-Gators were sparked by Center Art "Speedy" Valverde's 14 points and Forward Pete Desalernos' 10. Also giving L-W plenty of backboard trouble was "Chick" DeLee.

The game kept Desalernos out in front in the Jayvee scoring parade with 66, trailed by Bob Keropian at 51 and Valverde, 44.

Battlers Don Head Gear
Today For SFJC Workout

State's boxing squad meets San Francisco Junior College mittmen in a workout this afternoon at the latter's gym. The pugilists will wear headgear and none of the contests will be judged.

Gator Coach Lee Alderman feels that the matches will further strengthen the State pugilists for their official bouts which begin in January.

Stanford Delays Congress Ballot

Ballots for a State student vote on world peace resolutions formulated by Western College Congress November 24, 25 and 26, have not arrived from Stanford University, according to Herbert Jacobi, State IRC delegate to the Congress. State students are expected to vote on the resolutions before Christmas vacation.

The success of this referendum and the representative quality of the vote will determine whether two delegates will be selected to carry the resolutions to the United Nations.

Consideration will be given on the size of the school and on an essay which the delegates will submit.

Completed resolutions of the Congress call for international control of atomic energy, advancement of funds and materials for the Marshall Plan "with no political strings attached" and the placement of American publications in the libraries of leading European universities.
